Dear Dr. [REDACTED]

For your accepted manuscript, 10.1021/acs.macromol.9b00691, in Macromolecules, if your funder or institution requires open access or participates in an open access program with ACS, your next step should be to Click here.

This link opens an order page, allowing you to choose from ACS' open access options, select your license, enter any discounts, and complete your purchase. Where available, this link also allows you to seek funding approval from your institution. More information on certain funder and institutional requirements can be found at ACS Funder Options.

If you need additional assistance, contact support@services.acs.org.

Thank you for choosing ACS Publications as your partner.

**Open access purchases are required for funders or institutions who have a policy with an embargo period of less than 12 months, and/or with a specific license (such as CC-BY), and/or requiring deposition or open availability of the final published article. Please note, in other cases, you may meet funder or institutional open access requirements by self-depositing your accepted manuscript for availability 12 months after publication to your funder repository at no cost. A PDF version of your accepted manuscript is readily available in ACS Paragon Plus.*

- has to set up and sign into the personal Copyright Clearance Center account

The screenshot shows the 'Pay Author' page on the Copyright Clearance Center website. A modal dialog is open, titled 'You may be eligible for funding under one or more agreements.' The dialog contains the following text:

If you would like to seek funding approval under one of these agreements, please make the appropriate selection below. Note: the invoicing agreements will pre-populate key data elements in your transaction including currency, billing address and VAT information, if applicable.

If you don't wish to pay your open access charges using an existing agreement, please choose Bill Me.
